Slapper's Birthday Hash

For a chap in his fifties Slapper doesn't look a day over seventy. Both he and wife NoSole enjoyed their birthdays within a week of each other and we certainly enjoyed this Hash. Happy Birthday to both ☺

As is usual with village hall runs where beer and food are available a large number of Hashers appeared... and were joined by members of the Burghfield Running Club. Good to see 'em. It turned out that one of the ladies had won the BH<sup>3</sup> Fun Run this year! While discussing this we made the point to her that it's never going to happen again. Her handicap is likely to ensure she will start at least an hour after the first people off next year.

We were very lucky with the mid-October weather, which was clear, bright, sunny and warm. The initial On Outers were not so lucky. Going in the opposite direction to where the true Trail started. I considered myself a tad fortunate, since I'd one in the right direction. Though this swelling balloon of positive serendipity was rapidly deflated when C5 and I got suckered in the woods by RandyMandy. Now not many people would own up to this, let alone actively participate in this somewhat esoteric activity. However, we did, and emerged dishevelled, breathless and, may I say, somewhat disappointed. It took us a while to catch up with the Pack.

Apologies, but I shall have to end this Gobsheet here, having just received some worrying personal news. Let me just say that the Trail was excellent, the company also and the food, drink and general bonhomie at the village hall later was great fun.

On On. Hashgate.
